

House on the South Downs

Location: Sussex, UK
Client: Private
Completed: 1968
Area: 250 sqm

A comfortable, fairly large house notched into a steep south-facing slope of the South Downs, with fabulous views.

The house on the South Downs is a development of three earlier buildings; Garrett House, Bartholomew Villas and Ted's own house, Camden Mews.

The main living room and bedrooms wrap around two sides of a terrace on top of the dining room and kitchen.

The living room and main bedroom both have fully glazed timber bays that project out with great views into the landscape.

The high flat roofed main rooms are served by lower smaller rooms with grass roofs that stretch back to join the Downland grass.
